Pirate Ship vs Cannonballs - Version 4 Bugs List & Revision Requests

Bugs List:

1. When you hit Play, you can choose from 3 modes. Medium has a typo, it says 'Madium'. Also, is the text centred on all 3 modes?
2. You were going to add a new music track (still Pirate theme) to the Main Menu and the Death screen to more background-like Pirate music and less action. This way it is different to the current track for the game. (But the current game track can stay)
3. The ship can disappear behind the cliff boundary. The Ship Boundary (not the Cannonball Boundary) needs to be brought inwards a bit so it doesn't look odd visually.
4. There are some issues with the Cannonball Boundary. Sometimes cannonballs can disappear and fly off the screen after they bounce. I've seen this a lot particularly near the bottom-middle. It's hard to say exactly as it's hard to track while playing. However, great job on this boundary, most of the time it's working really well!
5. The 'weigh Anchor' text. Can you change it to 'Weigh Anchor!' with a capital W. Also, can you add an exclamation point after every powerup/downgrade text? (I'm not sure if any are missing or not)
6. When picking up the small ship upgrade with text 'Blimey!' it plays the downgrade noise. This should play the upgrade noise.
7. The 'Score' formula is gone. Before, there was a formula using Time and Coins to create Score. More coins and more time survived = better score. Now, Score is just your Coin count. Can you revert to old score formula please and display this on the death screen?
8. On all modes the first cannonball is fired out in the same direction. On Medium/Hard, the next cannonballs are random. But on Easy, the first cannonball and all future cannonballs all come in same direction every round. The first cannonball of Easy has to be randomised, otherwise each round on Easy is the same. Let me know if I need to explain this better.
9. You didn't make this change: "The cannon speeds up rate of fire quicker in Hard mode than in Easy mode right? Well it still feels like the main difference in difficulty is just because of the initial amount fired. So, on Easy Mode the cannon fires approx. every 5 seconds right? Can we make this 4 seconds for Medium mode and 3 seconds for Hard mode? It can still speed up over time on each mode as well, but I think this will make the different modes make more sense." Currently on every mode, the cannon shoots approx. every 5 seconds.

Also, are all powerups/downgrades an equal chance of spawning?